PROJECTS

CRUD USER

C#

A project was carried out showing how to implement a CRUD system in a Windows Forms application, with a layered structure that separates the graphical interface from logic and access to the database.

PARAMO DEL SOL WEBSITE

HTML - CSS - JAVASCRIPT

A simple website was developed about "El Páramo del Sol", where HTML, CSS and Bootstrap were used to create an attractive and responsive interface. A navigation bar, informative sections with descriptive cards and service plans were implemented. Additionally, registration and login functions were implemented in JavaScript, offering a database-free experience.
